

Kensington

Picture:Kensington garden

- Kensington is a rich district in the west end of central London.
- There live about 160 000 people
- There is a lot of construction in the neighbourhoods. Because they can't expand their houses side ways or up. But people will build their houses down.
- You can find three big museums there called Natural history museum, Science museum and the Victoria and Albert museum. There is also concerthall and culturecentre called Royal Albert hall and the Kensington palace
