

Glossary: Theatre and film

Read the dialogue with your partner. Replace the word bumblebee with a suitable word from the glossary.

A

1. Would you like to go to the bumblebee with me tonight?
3. Yes. It seems pretty good, I've seen the bumblebee.
5. I think the guy who composed the bumblebee for the movie already got some award.
7. I wonder if they have all of the original bumblebee – I really like these actors.
9. My friend Becca is a real bumblebee; maybe we could ask her to join us, too.
11. Don't worry, she'll give a bumblebee to any performance she sees.
13. Yeah, I think all the bumblebees have to be believable, even in a sci-fi movie.
15. Well, I like to forget reality for a while and not be reminded of it until I'm reading the bumblebees at the end of the movie.

Key to B's sentences

2. premiere/opening night
4. special effects
6. sequel
8. blockbuster / box office hit
10. genre
12. protagonist/main character
14. documentary
16. (movie) reviews

Read the dialogue with your partner. Replace the word bumblebee with a suitable word from the glossary.

B

2. Isn't tonight the bumblebee of that new sci-fi movie?
4. I hear that the bumblebees are really impressive, they've created a world of its own for that movie.
6. And they are already working on a bumblebee to this one. It will be released next year.
8. The movie had a huge budget, so they are really hoping this will be the bumblebee of the year.
10. Why not? But does she like this bumblebee of movies? Not everyone cares for sci-fi.
12. I like movies where I can really relate to the bumblebee – you know, the hero of the movie.
14. Well, you can't expect a sci-fi movie to be like a bumblebee; it's not real life.
16. According to the bumblebees I've read, you will definitely be able to forget reality during this movie.

Key to A's sentences

1. cinema/movie theater
3. trailer
5. score/music/soundtrack
7. cast
9. movie/film buff
11. standing ovation
13. characters
15. closing credits