1. I don't need to change my smartphone every two years, my current phone is still more than adequate for my purposes.
2. My friends also seem to be holding on to their phones for longer.
3. New models are (being) released annually though / even though / although (the) changes are relatively minor.
4. Don't buy into planned obsolescence, your phone won't become out of date / obsolete in two years.
5. As far as I am concerned, the moral of the story is to stay critical.
