

1. Change the sentences into reported speech

1. He said that he was hungry.
2. Maria asked her dad if he could help her.
3. She told me that she had seen me in town the day before.
4. He asked Ellie if she could do him a favour the next day.
5. My friend asked me what I was doing.
6. The doctor told Hannah not to eat any dairy products.
7. My brother asked me to leave him alone.
8. The teacher told Eva that he thought her analysis of the problem was superficial.
9. Mika asked me if I would visit him the week after/the following week.
10. The professor asked the student how the question was relevant to his/her/their topic.

2. Use indirect questions

1. I can't remember where I live/where you live.
2. Would you mind telling me what your social security number is?
3. I need to know where your mother works.
4. I've no idea what your landlady told you.
5. Can you tell me what time your train leaves?
6. Can you remember when you last saw your driving license?
7. Can you tell me what you have eaten today? ('today', koska 'presents')
TAI Can you tell me what you had eaten that day?
8. I must know if you have taken any medication.
TAI Can you tell me if you had taken any medication.
9. I wonder if you need a warmer blanket.
10. I wonder if your father knows your whereabouts.